Application for Internship in Global Marketing Perwoll – starting from May 1st, 2025

Dear Recruiting team,

I am currently in the first semester of my Master's in International Business at WHU – Otto Beisheim School of Management. I would like to apply for the Internship in Global Marketing Perwoll at Henkel and am available from May through July 2025.

During my studies at WHU, I had the opportunity to attend a guest lecture by Katharina Roscher, Corporate Director of Brand Tech & Ecosystems at Henkel. She shared detailed insights into the marketing strategies and rebranding process of the Schwarzkopf website. This lecture sparked a deep curiosity and interest in how effective marketing, brand perception, and influencer marketing can be critical in determining a company's success. The opportunity to learn directly from experienced professionals at Henkel excites me, especially in understanding how effective marketing can impact a large FMCG organization. This aligns with my goal of deepening my knowledge of International marketing in a global setting.

My coursework in Strategic Marketing at WHU further strengthened my interest in branding. Through case studies on brands like Stanley, Coca-Cola, and Nike, I gained an appreciation for how strategic choices in branding can shape an organization's trajectory. I am particularly drawn to the creative, structured, and forward-thinking processes that underpin marketing decisions and consumer analysis. My academic experience, professional background, and curiosity have helped me develop a unique perspective on tackling marketing challenges. I am excited to apply these skills and learn at Henkel.

In my previous role as Sales Team Lead at Pickyourtrail, I successfully managed a €2.6M annual revenue target and consistently achieved my goals by leveraging data-driven insights and identifying growth opportunities. Each month, I analyzed performance data and client conversion metrics to identify high-performing destinations, which enabled me to focus efforts on markets with the greatest potential. I developed innovative strategies to increase market share and improve customer satisfaction by adapting sales pitches to align with client preferences and seasonal trends. This experiences also reflect project management, as I was responsible for setting targets, creating monthly plans, and managing team members.

My psychology background has been instrumental in my sales success, enabling me to deeply understand client needs and tailor my communication to foster trust and build long-term relationships. This combination of analytical skills and customer-centric thinking uniquely equips me to address marketing challenges and develop impactful strategies.

Henkel's Global Marketing Internship offers an exceptional opportunity to acquire the practical skills that I require to start my marketing and brand management career- an experience no classroom can replicate. I am confident that my curiosity, commitment to learning, and persistence in facing challenges will help me excel in this internship and make a meaningful contribution.

Thank you for considering my application. I am excited about the opportunity to learn from the team at Henekl, and I look forward to discussing my fit for the program in further detail.

Sincerely,
Shruthi Sankaranarayanan
