Application for Junior Brand Marketeer – starting from September 1st, 2026

Dear Recruiting Team,

I am currently in the final semester of my Master's in International Business at WHU – Otto Beisheim School of Management. I would like to apply for the Junior Brand Marketeer at Picnic Technologies and am available from September 1st, 2026.

Some brands communicate. Others build momentum. What excites me about Picnic is that it does both. Picnic is reshaping how convenience, efficiency, and sustainability are perceived in daily life by redefining grocery retail. This kind of brand-building challenge is exactly what I am looking for. I am drawn to environments where growth is fast, decisions are data-driven, and campaigns must inspire. This is why I am interested in the Junior Brand Marketer role.

Throughout my academic and professional journey, I have consistently been curious about one question: why do people choose one brand over another? Not just rationally, but emotionally. This interest led me to pursue a global marketing and brand management internship at Henkel, where I was at the centre of campaign management. Working in global marketing at Henkel, I experienced firsthand how much coordination, precision, and cross-functional alignment it takes to bring a campaign to life from initial brand ambition to creative development, media discussions, and local market adaptation.

Before that, leading a sales team in a fast-growing startup environment taught me something equally important: performance matters. Ideas are powerful, but results sustain growth. Monitoring KPIs, quickly adjusting approaches, and motivating a team toward a shared target sharpened my commercial instincts. I learned to think in terms of impact, not just effort.

What I would bring to Picnic is not just marketing knowledge, but energy. I am analytical, but not rigid. Structured, but not risk-averse. I enjoy taking ownership, asking uncomfortable questions, and improving processes when something can be done better. I would love the opportunity to bring my curiosity and drive to the Picnic marketing team.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration. I look forward to the opportunity to speak with you.

Sincerely,

Shruthi Sankaranarayanan
