Application for Internship in Global Business Development - starting from May 1st, 2025

Dear Recruiting Team,

I am currently in the first semester of my Master's in International Business at WHU – Otto Beisheim School of Management. I would like to apply for the Internship - Global Business Development at SIG and am available from May through July 2025.

As a biotechnology graduate, I am particularly drawn to SIG's innovative approach to creating packaging systems that prioritize sustainability and technological advancement. Combining my scientific foundation with over two years of experience in business development allows me to uniquely contribute to the strategic and analytical demands of this role. My academic background provides a strong understanding of the science and value chain dynamics of the F&B industry, while my professional experience equips me with the practical skills to build customer relationships and drive data-informed growth.

In my previous role as Sales Team Lead at Pickyourtrail, I consistently exceeded a €2.6M annual revenue target by leveraging data analytics to identify market opportunities and customer trends. I developed innovative solutions to increase market share, including adapting sales strategies based on seasonal demands and customer preferences. These efforts not only drove revenue but also strengthened customer satisfaction, as evidenced by a 9/10 average rating across 600+ client interactions. My success in sales was further supported by my psychology background, which enabled me to deeply understand client needs and foster long-term relationships—a skill set highly transferable to supporting SIG's customer-centric solutions.

My psychology background also played a key role in my sales success, enabling me to understand client needs deeply and tailor my communication to foster trust and long-term relationships. This combination of analytical skills and customer-centric thinking positions me uniquely to address sales challenges and create impactful strategies. I believe these skills will be invaluable in contributing to the success of SIG's business development initiatives.

SIG's Global Business Development Internship offers an exceptional opportunity to acquire the practical skills that I require - an experience no classroom can replicate. I am confident that my curiosity, commitment to learning, and persistence in facing challenges will help me excel in this internship and make a meaningful contribution.

Thank you for considering my application. I am excited about the opportunity to learn from the team at SIG, and I look forward to discussing my fit for the program in further detail.

Sincerely,
Shruthi Sankaranarayanan
